19.06.2015. Swede Felix Rosenqvist (Prema Powerteam, 2:11.362 minutes) had a perfect start into the Belgian round of the FIA Formula 3 European Championship. In free practice at the 7.004 kilometres long Spa-Francorchamps circuit, he was 0.231 seconds faster than Antonio Giovinazzi (Jagonya Ayam with Carlin, 2:11.593 minutes). Just behind the points' leader from Italy, Charles Leclerc (Van Amersfoort Racing, 2:11.639 minutes) followed as the best-placed rookie in second place while Jake Dennis (Prema Powerteam, 2:11.974 minutes) was third.

For a long time, Felix Rosenqvist was involved in a battle for the top position with Sam MacLeod (Motopark, 2:11.031 minutes) while Charles Leclerc and Antonio Giovinazzi also joined the action in the closing stages. Together with Rosenqvist, Giovinazzi and Leclerc ended up in the first three positions, but Scot MacLeod dropped back to sixth. Jake Dennis and Pietro Fittipaldi (Fortec Motorsports, 2:12.030 minutes) were still ahead of the Motopark driver. Thus, the Brazilian was the second-best rookie behind Leclerc.

Lance Stroll (Prema Powerteam, 2:12.088 minutes), a Formula 3 novice just like Leclerc and Fittipaldi, ended up seventh on free practice, ahead of three further rookies, Raoul Hyman (Team West-Tec F3, 2:12.137 minutes), Mikkel Jensen (kfzteile24 Mücke Motorsport, 2:12.146 minutes) and George Russell (Carlin, 2:12.439 minutes).
