Martins beats Novalak to a maiden victory at Zandvoort

MP Motorsport's Victor Martins put on a spectacular show to clinch his first Formula 3 win, rising four places from fifth to beat Trident's Clément Novalak and ART Grand Prix's Frederik Vesti, both of whom will feel they could have won a tightly fought Race 2 at Zandvoort.

Novalak had shot ahead of reverse polesitter Ido Cohen at the start and dominated the majority of the race, but didn't have the grip or the pace to prevent Martins from stealing the lead late on with the aid of DRS.

Vesti clinched a fourth podium of the year but will be disappointed not to have put more pressure on the front two and falls to fourth in the drivers' title fight, behind Martins.

Neither of the Championship's top two scored points as Hauger was taken out of contention on the penultimate lap by a collision with Cohen, which dragged them both out of the points.

This handed Doohan a chance to close the gap between himself and his fellow Red Bull junior, but the Trident went skidding through the gravel on the final lap and fell out of the points himself.

AS IT HAPPENED

Starting from the front for the first time, Cohen stuttered off the line when the lights went out which allowed Novalak to dash into the lead. The Carlin Buzz driver swung to the right in reaction but had already lost significant ground and had to settle into second.

Behind him, Vesti had scampered ahead of Olli Caldwell for third, while Doohan had lost three places and fallen to 10th after a poor getaway.

Martins managed to haul himself in front of Caldwell before the Safety Car was called out to clear up Lorenzo Colombo's standard Campos, with the Italian suffering a puncture that took him off track and into the barriers.

Action resumed and Vesti instantly homed in on Cohen, but the ART driver was caught off-guard by Martins, who pounced on the distracted Dane, stealing third at the exit of Turn 1.

Cohen recovered from his shaky start to the race and was hanging on to the rear of the Trident, having cut the gap between them down to less than a tenth. Martins and Vesti were locked in battle directly behind, with the front four practically on top of each other.

Novalak clawed his way back out of DRS range and this allowed Martins to pounce for P2, Cohen powerless to defend from the MP Motorsport on the main straight. It had been a valiant effort by the Carlin rookie, but one lap later and he was off the podium as Vesti squeezed past at Turn 1.

Vesti's pass had been made possible, in part, by Martins, who had robbed Cohen of DRS once more by catching up to Novalak. The Alpine junior wasn't hanging about and swept around the outside of Novalak down the main straight to move into first, before claiming the fastest lap to boot.

Hauger had remained patient in his pursuit of Caldwell further back, wary of causing trouble with his PREMA teammate, but the Norwegian spotted an opportunity and flung himself down the inside of the Briton. Another pass on Cohen followed shortly after as he claimed fourth, with the Carlin struggling for grip.

After a frantic couple of laps, the Safety Car gave the field a breather as Amaury Cordeel beached his Campos in the gravel trap.

Bernd Mayländer pulled the Safety Car into the pits with two laps to go and the chaos resumed as Cohen and Hauger collided at the top of the banking and were dramatically tossed out of the top 10.

This handed Doohan a major boost in the title race, but the Trident was unable to take advantage, running wide from eighth and falling out of the top 10 himself.

Martins was able to withstand late pressure from Novalak to cross the line in first place, followed by the Trident and Vesti. David Schumacher completed a late move on Caldwell for fifth, finishing one place behind Collet.

Race 1 winner Arthur Leclerc finished in seventh, ahead of Jak Crawford, Matteo Nannini and Logan Sargeant.

Cohen and Ugran handed post-Race 2 penalties

4 September 2021

Carlin Buzz Racing's Ido Cohen and Jenzer Motorsport's Filip Ugran have been handed penalties following today's Race 2 at Zandvoort.

Cohen has received a grid drop of three places for tomorrow's Race 3, after the Stewards determined that he had made contact with Dennis Hauger in today's Race 2 at Zandvoort.

The Israeli driver was attempting an outside pass on the Norwegian in the middle of Turn 3 in the final stages of the race. His left front wing made contact with the right rear tyre of the PREMA driver, causing a puncture. The Carlin driver will now start from P19 in Race 3.

Ugran (pictured) has been handed a 10s time penalty

Ugran has received a 10s-time penalty. The Jenzer Motorsport driver was found guilty of making contact with Jonny Edgar in the middle of Turn 9, causing the Carlin racer to spin.

The Stewards determined that Ugran was wholly responsible for the contact. As a consequence, 10s have been added to his total race time. The Romanian, who had finished in 12th, now classifies 24th, ahead Edgar.
